Integrating Modern and Contemporary Art into the Classroom

Monday, July 13 - Friday, July 17, 2009
10am - 4pm daily

The Metropolitan Museum of Art
The Museum of Modern Art, Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, and
The Whitney Museum of American Art present a summer institute for educators.

Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney

Through independent and guided exploration of the collections, participants will:

- Deepen their understanding of contemporary and modern art
- Learn object-based teaching strategies and receive feedback from museum educators
- Work with small groups of peers to develop a unit plan integrating art into curriculum
- Develop engaging approaches for using works of art in the classroom
- Focus on the development of visual literacy skills
- Develop questioning techniques appropriate to works of art
- Receive curriculum materials and learn museum resources
- Meet colleagues from around the country
- Explore exhibitions independently

Program sessions are held on-site at each participating museum. Participants are responsible for their own lodging and transportation to each location.

Travel directions to all sites will be provided.

Tuition is $400 and includes instruction, curriculum materials, and lunch each day. Teachers in grades 3-12 for all subject areas are welcome to apply. Enrollment is limited to 40 participants. Previous participants may not reapply to the program.
