MRS. SAMUEL A. MARX ELECTED A TRUSTEE OF THE MUSEUM OF MODERN ART

Mrs. Samuel A. Marx of Chicago has been elected a trustee of the Museum of Modern Art, John Hay Whitney, Chairman of the Board, announced today. Mr. Whitney also announced that Mr. James W. Husted, who has been a trustee since 1944, has been elected an honorary trustee for life. Mr. Husted will continue to serve the Museum as general counsel.

Mrs. Marx, who, with her husband owns one of the most distinguished collections of modern art in the country, has been interested in the arts for many years. They have lent important paintings from their collection to many exhibitions presented by the Museum during the past several years, including such major one-man shows as those covering the work of Rouault, Bonnard, Braque, Soutine, Modigliani and Matisse. "The City," by Leger, also from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Marx, is now on loan in the current retrospective exhibition of work by this famous French artist.

Mrs. Marx is on the Woman's Board of the Art Institute of Chicago and Chairman of its Art Lending Service. She is also a member of the Chicago Public School Art Society.
