THURSDAY EVENING FILM SHOWINGS AT MUSEUM OF MODERN ART

An evening film showing will be given Thursdays at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, beginning June 13. In connection with the Museum's late Thursday closing during the summer, 10 p.m., to accommodate record-breaking attendance at the Picasso 75th Anniversary Exhibition, the evening showings will be the same as those scheduled during the day.

Fièvre and Eldorado, two avant-garde French films made in 1921, will make up the June 13th program. They are part of the summer series, Sixty Years of French Films, the first comprehensive survey of French films ever presented in this country.

Admission to the Museum, 75 cents, includes the film showing. Supper will be available in the garden restaurant and on the terrace overlooking the sculpture court.
