CLOSING OF THE PICASSO EXHIBITION

The Museum regrets that part of the Picasso: 75th Anniversary Exhibition has been closed.

Because the scope of the full exhibition required almost the entire Museum gallery space, it was installed in sections, and it is now being dismantled in sections. Otherwise, it would be necessary to close the Museum altogether while dismantling takes place.

A quarter of a million visitors have seen the exhibition since it opened on May 22. After it closes completely on September 8, it will be shown at the Art Institute of Chicago (October 29 - December 8) and at the Philadelphia Museum of Art (January 8 - February 22).

The schedule is as follows:

First floor galleries (--up to 1925) on view through Sunday, August 25

Auditorium gallery (prints and drawings) on view through Monday, September 2.

Third floor galleries (1925 - present) on view through Sunday, September 8.
