PROJECTS: PERFORMANCE in Summergarden is an August Projects series presenting artists whose works involve aspects of performance. PROJECTS is an ongoing Museum program of exhibitions begun in 1971 to explore new directions in contemporary art. It is through this program that The Museum has expressed its commitment to the most recent activity in all mediums, and has contributed toward identifying the tenor of contemporary art.

PROJECTS: PERFORMANCE in Summergarden is the first presentation of performance art in The Museum's Projects program and has been selected by the Projects Committee whose members are from the curatorial staff.
