THE MUSEUM OF MODERN ART OFFERS PRINT WORKSHOPS

Thursday, July 18; and Tuesdays July 23, July 30, and August 6
2:00 - 4:00 p.m.

The Museum of Modern Art offers a series of print workshops for children ages five to twelve and their adult friends on four afternoons in July and August; beginning Thursday, July 18, 1996. This season's programs, entitled Print It Out!, will be held in conjunction with the exhibition THINKING PRINT: BOOKS TO BILLBOARDS, 1980-95 (June 20 - September 10, 1996). Continuing Tuesdays, July 23, July 30, and August 6, the four family workshops introduce children and their adult companions to the art of printmaking. Participants explore prints in the exhibition and take a behind-the-scenes look at works in the Print Study Center. Following the discussion, children and adults create their own prints in a studio workshop.

The programs are lead by the Museum's education and curatorial staff. Workshops are free with Museum admission on a first-come, first-served basis. No preregistration is required. Sign in at 1:45 at The Edward John Noble Education Center on the main floor. The same workshop is repeated each session. For further information, call the Department of Education at 212/708-9795.
