MUSEUM OF MODERN ART POSTPONES CLOSING OF THERAPY COMPETITION

The Museum of Modern Art announces the postponement of the closing of its Competition for designs to be used in therapy for disabled soldiers and sailors. The Competition, which was to have closed December 1, will now close December 15. Five hundred dollars in prize money will be awarded. All designs and objects accepted by the jury, whether prize winners or not, will be shown in an exhibition called The Arts in Therapy, to open at the Museum January 20.

Requests for Competition programs and entry blanks should be sent to:
