

Welcome to MoMA

Looking guide recommended for grades 1–5

At The Museum of Modern Art you can explore paintings, photographs, sculptures, films, design objects, performances, drawings, prints, and architecture. Try to find different kinds of artworks and answer the questions below.

Find an artwork that has a lot of detail.

How many colors do you see? What kinds of lines do you see? Draw the different shapes you see.

Find an artwork made from interesting materials.

What materials did the artist use? How do you think the artist made it? What questions do you have for the artist?

Find an artwork that tells a story.

What is happening in the artwork? Who is the main character? What happened before? What happens next? Write or draw your story.

Thank you for helping us keep the artworks safe and for being respectful of other visitors.

- Do not touch the artwork and stay two to three feet away.
- Use your inside voice, but feel free to ask questions and share ideas with others in your group.
- You can take photos, but please turn off the flash. No videos please.
- Use pencil only (no pens or markers) to sketch or write your ideas.
- No food or drink is allowed in the galleries.

Note to chaperones

Stay with your groups at all times and make sure students are adhering to museum rules.

You can feel free to participate in the activities with the students and talk to them individually about the art. You do not need to know all the answers, but you can look and learn along with the students.

Encourage students to use phrases such as “I notice...,” “I think...,” and “I am curious about...”

Volkswagen of America is proud to be MoMA's lead partner of education.

Generous support for School and Teacher Programs is provided by the Carroll and Milton Petrie Education Program Endowment, the William Randolph Hearst Endowment Fund, and the Mimi and Peter Haas Endowment Fund for Elementary School Programs.

Additional funding is provided by the Ducommun and Gross Family Foundation and by the Annual Education Fund.
