

Maria Alcantara

Mi nombre es María Alcantara, soy dominicana y vivo en el Bronx. Actualmente me gusta usar diferentes colores, telas, hilos y botones para crear bordados de diferentes tamaños. Alguno de estos materiales los transformo utilizando pintura acrílica y arcilla. También me gusta usar alambres para crear esculturas suaves que sienten como brazaletes o collares grandes. Este trabajo me hace muy feliz y me hace ejercitar mis manos. Mi deseo es que las personas piensen en mi cuando miren mi arte.

My name is Maria Alcantara. I am Dominican and I live in the Bronx. Currently I love using assorted colors, textiles, threads, and buttons to create embroidery artworks of different sizes. I transform some of these materials with acrylic paint and clay. I also like using wire to create soft (malleable) sculptures that feel like bracelets or large necklaces. This work makes me incredibly happy and helps me relax and exercise my hands. My wish is that people think of me when they look at my artwork.

Bin Feng

Artist Feng Bin is from Guangzhou, China. He grew up in Guangzhou. When he grew up, he had a strong interest in Chinese traditional art, Chinese painting. By chance, I came to the Queens Academy of Fine Arts in Queens, New York, and met the dean, Mr. Liu. Under Mr. Liu's patient guidance, I developed a stronger interest in Chinese painting, which led me to the path of Chinese painting.

The tools used to create Chinese painting are from the Four Treasures of Wenfang, rice paper, brush, and ink, and one of the main purposes of my study is that I like to watch costume drama, whether it is history or martial arts, in which I can always find the shadow of the Round Road. Half of my creative inspiration comes from landscape paintings, which appear in ancient costume rules. Besides landscape painting, there are also Chinese paintings of flowers and birds, which bring me infinite inspiration for my circle painting. Unfortunately, because I am disabled and in a wheelchair, my hands and feet cannot create wonderful works. However, as an artist, I will try my best to draw good works.

Stacy Fishman

Hi, I am Stacy Fishman. I am from Manhattan, born in Staten Island Hospital in 1955. I like to draw charter boats, sunsets, swans with colored pencils. God inspires me to do art drawing. He gave me talent to do art work.

Christian Forbes

My name is Christian Forbes. I like to create clay sculptures. It took me a long time to make them, like Viking ship with serpent, coliseum with clay gladiators. It inspires me to create claymation stuff. I came up with more ideas to make museum busts and paintings. It's my life's work to do everything I could think of, like drawing manga comics and video game art characters. I know it's hard to do those things but it doesn't bother me. I work even more and harder, then I can recognize my artistic advanced skills. This will be my appreciation and will continue to make and create more art any way I can. So I'll keep on doing my artwork forever. I need to do it more challengingly so that I have to figure out this problem, so I'd better keep up the good work. Keep on trying and doing my best. So thanks for sharing with me. We'll do it again next year.

Keenan Foster

Color pencils to recreate images from the internet. I like pictures I like. I love colorful nature and objects.

Linton Gilchrist

My name is Linton Gilchrist. I like to draw portraits. I use materials like color pencils. I do a lot of sketching. But I like to come up with my own creative ideas. Plus I do my own animation. I also create my own logos. I love to draw my own anime characters. I do stop-motion and also video editing. I come up with my own stories and scripts. I'm still developing my own skills. I used my bluetooth wireless keyboard, it helps me type faster. Plus I started to learn sculpting so I'm doing it one step at a time. I come up with my own design to draw with a pencil so I am learning new things on my own. I'm also a fan of Akira Toriyama. He inspires me. He was the amazing creator of the Dragon Ball franchise, like adventures fighting. He also made a lot of manga books and arcade machines. I want to create my own video game characters. I'm happy to have art teachers helping me out to boost up my confidence. I use anime art books to help me out to draw manga and I watch videos plus films as well. I like voice acting too. I can work on my skills more.

Wayne Rogers

Hi my name is Wayne and I got inspired from the MoMA art gallery. When I go to the art gallery, I see amazing artwork from different artists.

The way I make my artwork is about life and music, it's my way to escape from the real world.

I used scissors, markers, glue, and my own song lyrics for my art projects.

What I like to do in the art studio, it depends on my feelings. Because of the way I think.

Never give up on your dreams as an artist in life you make it.

I include text in my art because of how other people feel in the real world.

This is my artist statement. Be free with your artwork.

Delvis Sandoval

Edward Velez

My name is Eddie and I am from East Harlem. I use color pencils and markers to create artwork inspired by animated cartoons and independently made animated videos that remind me of my father. When I draw I like to find inspiration from these cartoons and make them my own by mixing them together and creating something new. I draw as a way to express my feelings. Drawing helps me forget about the negatives and helps calm me down.
