MUSEUM ANNOUNCES FUTURE PLANS FOR MAJOR ONE-MAN EXHIBITIONS

Five major one-man exhibitions of works of art by Picasso, Seurat, Gris, Arp and Gaudi will be presented by the Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, New York, during the next three years, it was announced here by Rene d'Harnoncourt, Director, yesterday following the monthly trustee meeting.

At the time of the Picasso exhibition in the spring of 1957 the Museum will also re-issue Alfred H. Barr, Jr.'s definitive monograph brought up to date as PICASSO, SIXTY YEARS OF HIS ART. This will be the first Museum Picasso show in this country since 1940.

The exhibition of paintings by Georges-Pierre Seurat, which will be on view at the Museum during the spring of 1958, is being organized by Daniel Catton Rich of the Chicago Art Institute and will be shown there as well as in New York. A major exhibition of the paintings of the Spanish Cubist painter, Juan Gris, will be shown in the summer of 1958. Specific dates have not yet been determined for exhibitions of work by the Swiss sculptor, Hans Arp and the Spanish architect and designer, Gaudi. Both will be the first Museum shows in this country.
