FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Registration is now open for adult amateur art classes at the People's Art Center of the Institute of Modern Art, 21 West 53 Street. The courses are designed to develop the student's creative ability and to provide pleasure as a leisure activity. The 15-week fall term begins September 23. Classes meet once a week for 2 or 3 hours.

Classes in Painting, for beginning and advanced students, introduce problems aimed at developing the visual capacity of each student. Beginning Painting II studies problems in composition, line, form, and color in relation to subject matter and is a prerequisite for Painting III and IV.

Understanding Modern Painting by Painting is an illustrated lecture and studio course for beginners. Painting and Visualization explores the unique way in which things appear as contrasted with traditional styles of the past and present. Also being offered is Life Class - Using the Human Figure in Creative Composition.

Enrollment in the various classes is limited so that students may receive maximum individual attention.

For information or reservations call CI 5-8900, after 5 p.m. PL. 7-8949, or inquire at the office entrance of the Museum of Modern Art, 21 West 53 Street. Fees range from $50 to $60, materials in some instances extra.

The Institute of Modern Art, directed by Victor D'Amico, is a non-profit organization established to extend the activities of the Museum of Modern Art's Department of Education, and to develop new methods for promotion of creative art education here and abroad. Children's classes at the Center are already filled, as are the classes for parents and children.
