FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Inez Garson has been named Project and Research Associate to the Director of The Museum of Modern Art, René d'Harnoncourt, Director, announced today. She will join the staff on July 5.

Miss Garson has been associated with the Andrew Dickson White Museum of Art, Cornell University since 1958, and has been its Acting Director since 1963. During her term as Acting Director, the White Museum presented about 50 exhibitions and organized shows on Tiffany glass, Japanese art, contemporary Spanish painters, pre-Columbian art, and Bourdelle sculpture.

Miss Garson was born and educated in New York. She did graduate work in art history at the Institute of Fine Arts, New York University, from which she received the degree of Master of Arts in 1962. Before going to the White Museum, she had been co-director of a New York gallery, and for seven years had been docent and lecturer at The Museum of Modern Art. Her publications include exhibition catalogs for shows of work by Jason Seley, Canaletto, William Blake, Piranesi, and Whistler.
