A special exhibition of large photo-murals, posters, color reproductions and film stills illustrating the activities of The Museum of Modern Art will be on view in the New York City Times Square Information Center at Broadway, 43rd Street and Seventh Avenue from November 14 through December 13.

The exhibition at the Information Center, operated by the New York City Department of Commerce, is part of a program to help acquaint out-of-town visitors with various cultural attractions of New York City. Included in the display, designed by Carl Laanes of the Museum's Department of Graphics, are illustrations of works on view in the Museum galleries, the Picasso sculpture exhibition and future exhibitions. Book jackets and black-and-white photographs of the Museum's Sculpture Garden in summer and winter are also included.

A view of the Museum's Sculpture Garden in the snow has been silk-screened on the floor-to-ceiling windows of the Information Center through which passers-by can see into the building.

Printed guides to the Museum in Spanish, French and Italian, as well as English, for New York City's many foreign visitors and programs of the Museum's current activities will be available at the Information Center.
