TIM HARDIN TO PERFORM FINAL CONCERT OF MUSEUM'S JAZZ IN GARDEN SERIES

Singer, composer, and musician TIM HARDIN will perform in the final concert of The Museum of Modern Art's JAZZ IN THE GARDEN series on Thursday, September 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Hardin, well-known for his songs such as "If I Were A Carpenter," "Misty Roses," and "Reason to Believe," recorded by other artists, defies musical categorization.

One critic said:

"If, by definition, a jazz singer is an artist who can vary his phrasing of a song from performance to performance to suit his emotion of the moment, if a jazz singer is a gifted manipulator of dynamics and a natural handler of rhythm, then meet Tim Hardin."

Mr. Hardin will accompany himself on the guitar, with Warren Bernhardt on the electric piano.

Under the direction of Ed Bland, this final concert of the JAZZ IN THE GARDEN series will run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Admission is $1.00 plus the regular Museum entrance fee ($1.75, members free). Tickets go on sale the Saturday before the concert, and are available until concert time. The Garden Restaurant is open for refreshments and cushions are available for listening comfort. In case of rain, the concert is cancelled.

Additional information available from Joan Wallace, Press Coordinator, JAZZ IN THE GARDEN, The Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, New York, N.Y. 10019. Telephone (212) 956-7297.
