THE FUTURE OF ARCHITECTURE DISCUSSED AT MoMA

A lecture entitled THE FUTURE OF ARCHITECTURE: TRADITION IN THE MODERN WORLD will be held on Wednesday, November 14, at The Museum of Modern Art. Allan Greenberg will be the lecturer in this last in a series of Anthony G. Adinolfi Memorial Lectures.

Mr. Greenberg is a noted American architect whose designs have been featured in two previous exhibitions of architectural design at The Museum of Modern Art, Architectural Projects by Roger Ferri and Allan Greenberg (1979), and Buildings for Best Products (1980). In both these exhibitions it was apparent that Mr. Greenberg regards the form of classicism as alive and available.

The lecture will be held on Wednesday, November 14, at 6:00 p.m. in the Roy and Niuta Titus Theater 1. Tickets are $5, Members $4, students with current I.D. $3; tickets are available at the Lobby Information Desk or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with payment to: Department of Education, The Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, New York, New York 10019.
