FOR RELEASE Wednesday, June 5, 1935

The Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, announces that its Summer Exhibition 1935 will open to the public today. The Exhibition will consist of European Commercial Printing of Today, which at present occupies the first floor of the Museum; selections from the Permanent and the Lillie P. Bliss Collections of the Museum, supplemented by loans; twelve important 20th Century paintings of the School of Paris, from a private collection; a group of American watercolors, a group of foreign oils, and a group of foreign and American drawings from Mrs. John D. Rockefeller's recent gift to the Museum.

The Exhibition will remain on view through September 1, but the individual paintings and groups that compose it will be changed from time to time. In addition to the Rockefeller gift, other acquisitions received by the Museum during 1935 will be shown, as well as individual small exhibitions of architecture and machine art. The Rockefeller gift will be shown in a cumulative series of exhibitions, each remaining on view until the end of the summer, when the gift will be displayed in its entirety.

Among the artists represented when the Exhibition opens to the public today (June 5) will be Beckmann, de Chirico, Dali, Davis, Demuth, Dickinson, Dix, El Greco, Gauguin, van Gogh, Gris, Hart, Klee, Kuniyoshi, Legér, Matisse, Mauny, Modigliani, Mondrian, Picasso, Redon, Renoir, Rousseau, Roy, Schlemmer, Sheeler, Vuillard, and Weber.

On June 18 the Exhibition of European Commercial Printing of Today, which now occupies the first floor of the Museum, will be replaced by a selection from the recent Exhibition of African Negro Art, a group of American folk sculpture and a selection of sculpture from the Permanent Collection of the Museum.
