EXHIBITION PRESS RELEASE

O TO 9: ARTISTS BORN IN THE 1990s

On View November 7, 1999 through January 2, 2000

(Long Island City, NY, October 19, 1999) – Open November 7, P.S.1 Contemporary Art Center presents 0 to 9: Artists Born in the 1990s, an exhibition of works on paper on view in the third floor hallway. This project represents a unique collaboration between P.S.1's Curatorial and Education departments through its combination of artwork and community interaction. With 0 to 9, P.S.1 intends to explore and celebrate the burgeoning creative energies of its community.

The artists of the exhibition, all between the ages of 0 and 9, come from diverse backgrounds. This show gives an expressive voice to those young members of P.S.1's extended community for whom contemporary art has played, and will play, an important role. Some are residents of the local Long Island City area and have grown up in a neighborhood in which P.S.1 and contemporary art are an important presence. Others are children who have visited the museum, either on a school trip, with their parents, or to participate in the Art Camp After School program. Others still are children of artists who have exhibited at P.S.1. Finally, some of the art on view is created by children or friends of P.S.1's staff and colleagues and represents yet another type of proximity to contemporary art. In order to facilitate the viewing of the artwork by a younger audience, the drawings will be hung just 36 inches from the floor.

0 to 9: Artists Born in the 1990s, is organized by P.S.1 senior curator Carolyn Christov-Bakargiev, P.S.1 Education Director Bill Beirne, and Education Associate Anthony Huberman.
