Douglass Montgomery, stage and screen star, will be the guest speaker of the "Women's Radio Review" on Station WEAF and network Monday afternoon at three-thirty. His subject will be "Stage Design as the Actor Sees It" and his talk will take his listeners on a tour of the International Exhibition of Theatre Art now on view at The Museum of Modern Art.

On Monday, February 5, at the same hour, Marc Connelly will be the speaker on the same program. His talk will be "The Importance of Scenery to the Play." Mr. Connelly will be followed on the three successive Mondays by Cleon Throckmorton, Donald Ogenslager, and John Mason Brown, who will all speak on the general subject of stage design as illustrated in the International Exhibition of Theatre Art.

Mr. Lee Simonson, one of the directors of the Theatre Guild, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Artist in the Theatre," Friday evening, February 9, at The Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street. The lecture is in conjunction with the Museum's current International Exhibition of Theatre Art, which Mr. Simonson directed. The lecture is free to members; admission to non-members is one dollar.
