NEWLY ISSUED CATALOG OF CIRCULATING FILMS
INCLUDES MANY TITLES FOR RENT FOR FIRST TIME

The Film Library of the Museum of Modern Art has just issued a new listing of Circulating Film Programs available for rent to educational institutions and to film societies throughout the country. Sixteen films are made available for the first time in this listing of 269 titles.

Any non-commercial organization or group may rent these programs, which are arranged in 12 series aimed to provide a professional review of film history since 1895, and of the technical and esthetic development of the motion picture. Most programs last approximately 2 hours and cost $20 a program for 16 mm. film and $40 for 35 mm., a nominal fee to cover costs of insurance and maintenance only. The series include both silent and sound films.

Nearly 2,000 institutions and groups throughout the country have rented motion pictures from the Film Library in the 16 years of its existence, and the uses made of these films are constantly broadening and increasing.
