JACKSON POLLOCK FILM TO BE SHOWN AT MUSEUM OF MODERN ART

JACKSON POLLOCK, a ten-minute color film of the late American painter and leader of the school of Abstract Expressionism, will be shown in the Auditorium of the Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street, on Sunday, January 20 and Sunday, January 27 at 2 o'clock. The film was made in 1951 in Pollock's studio in Springs, Long Island, and shows him at work in his intensely personal style of painting. Several of the paintings on view in the Museum's current Pollock exhibition appear in the film, including the painting on glass, Number 29, which was filmed as he was painting it. Hans Namuth and Paul Falkenberg collaborated on the film and the musical score is by Morton Feldman.
