CURRENT EXHIBITIONS AT THE MUSEUM

Through Nov. 15

THE DRAWINGS OF JOSEPH STELLA - Forty-one works demonstrate the diversity of styles and subjects executed by the artist over a period of fifty years. Several of his well known studies of Brooklyn Bridge are included along with drawings of laborers and factories, portraits, colorful bird studies. Organized by the Department of Circulating Exhibitions the exhibition will tour museums throughout the United States. The works were selected by James Schuyler and Elaine Johnson in consultation with the Museum's Curator of Prints and Drawings. (First floor - northwest gallery) Opened Oct. 26.

Through Nov. 27

Through Dec. 4

VISIONARY ARCHITECTURE. This exhibition is devoted to architecture considered unbuildable for one or both of two reasons: it may have been technologically impossible to realize at the time it was designed or society lacked a program and purpose to support the architect's convictions. Today, when almost any design seems technologically feasible, the question of what to build begins to take precedence over problems of how to build. The exhibition is intended to show what architects themselves would have preferred to build had they been able to persuade society of the soundness of their vision. More than twenty projects, including work by Hans Poelzig, Bruno Taut, Frederick Kiesler, Le Corbusier, and Frank Lloyd Wright, together with other recent European and American examples, illustrate concepts of continuing significance in the development of modern architecture. Directed by Arthur Drexler, Director of the Department of Architecture and Design. (Third floor) Opened Sept. 29.

Through Jan. 2

100 MODERN DRAWINGS: A SELECTION FROM THE COLLECTION OF THE MUSEUM OF MODERN ART. From Seurat and van Gogh to recent work by European and American artists. This is the first survey of the Museum's little known collection of drawings in more than a dozen years. The exhibition is divided into ten sections chronologically or thematically. These include: Post-Impressionism in France, the Expressionists in Germany, Cubism and Futurism, Sculptors as Draughtsmen. (First floor) Opened Oct. 12.

Through the year

A new lobby exhibition marking the second year of the Museum of Modern Art's drive for $25,000,000 for a new building and for program and endowment. Includes: a clear plastic globe, four feet in diameter, with over a thousand interior red strings illustrating the Museum's activities around the world; three 12-foot tall photo murals; and an abstract construction symbolizing the complex functions of the Museum.

Through the year

A BID FOR SPACE. A special installation of the Museum Collections on second floor to include selections from architecture and design collection, photography collection, print and drawing collections in addition to painting. Sculpture from the Collection on view in third floor gallery and in the Sculpture Garden.

Through November

STRUCTURES BY RICHARD BUCKMINSTER FULLER. Revolutionary principles of building are demonstrated in three structures designed by Richard Buckminster Fuller: a space frame "Octet Truss" contributed by Aluminium Limited, a geodesic dome lent by Lincoln Laboratories, MIT, and a tensegrity mast built by Shoji Sadao and Edison Price, Inc.
