In its first season (1935-1936), the Film Library issued two series of five programs each, which have been shown by sixty-one institutions in twenty-two states and have been seen by approximately 100,000 persons. The first two series were of American films. Series III, to be released January 1, 1937, will be the first programs of foreign films to be issued. The Museum of Modern Art Film Library was established in May 1935, by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation to assemble, catalog and preserve as complete a record as possible in the actual films themselves of all types of noteworthy motion pictures made in this country or abroad from 1894 to the present day, and to circulate these films non-commercially to museums, colleges and study groups throughout the country.
