Registration for Fall art classes at The Art Center of The Museum of Modern Art, 4 West 54th Street, is now underway. Open to children from 3 to 12, young people from 12 to 18, and adult amateurs, The Art Center offers a 15-week session beginning on September 25. Classes meet once a week and are limited in size.

Painting classes for beginners and advanced students, orientation classes, experimental classes in printmaking, sculpture, drawing and painting are among the courses offered. In addition a Seminar Workshop on Creativity in Painting, which will include slide lectures and informal discussions as well as projects in painting, has classes scheduled every other Friday (7:30-9:30 P.M.; fee: $40, includes tuition and basic materials); Pottery, a course covering basic methods of clay forming, decorating and glazing is offered on Thursdays (7-10 P.M.; fee: $75, includes tuition and basic materials).

Photography - Criticism and Discussion, taught by Mort Schreiber, is a new addition to this year's curriculum. The course, intended as a critical evaluation of the student's own work, will meet every other Tuesday (7:30-9:30 P.M.; fee: $90, includes tuition only).

The Art Center also offers a lecture course by Abraham L. Chanin, author of "Art Guide New York" and docent of The Museum of Modern Art. Old Masters to Moderns gives the interested student an opportunity to view the vast wealth of art treasures of New York City through guided visits to the outstanding art galleries and museums (Wednesdays, 10-11:15 A.M. and 12:30-1:45 P.M.).

Children and young people are organized in classes by age beginning with three-year-olds. Included in the program are classes for parents and children to work together exploring creative media, the special classes of Puppet Making (8-10 years; Thursdays, 4-5:30 P.M.), Ceramic Sculpture (9-12 years; Fridays, 4-5:30 P.M.) and sculpture classes for ages 11 to 18.
