FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Al Carmines and the Judson Church Group will be at The Museum of Modern Art on Friday, November 22, for the third college student evening. The Group will perform from 7:30 to 11 p.m. in the sixth floor Founders Room, providing an evening of drama, poetry, and music. Al Carmines, associate minister and director of the arts program at the Judson Memorial Church in Washington Square, has directed off-Broadway and on television, is movie columnist for Motive Magazine, has taught at New York University, and teaches drama for the New York Earlham College Seminar. He is presently writing a book and working on a musical. As a composer he was awarded the "Obie" for the best music in off-Broadway theater in 1964. Eleven "Obies" have been awarded to the Judson Poets' Theater, and the church received one of the first achievement awards from New York State for its work in the arts.

Two screenings of Carl-Theodor Dreyer's "Passion of Joan of Arc" will also be featured at 7:45 and 9:30 p.m. The film, made in France in 1928 by the world-renowned Danish-born director, was one of the last experimental silent pictures. A poetic and intensely moving film, celebrated for its use of huge close-ups creating a great gallery of human portraits, the film stars Mlle. Falconetti.

All the Museum galleries will remain open: the collection, photographs of ancient ruins by Paul Caponigro and of Paris in the '30s by Brassai, film stills illustrating the acting career of Anthony Quinn, and Robert Rauschenberg's 36-foot long construction "Soundings."

The cost is only $1.50; or $1.00 each for students arriving in groups. Student Members, as usual, are admitted free.

Refreshments will be available in the Penthouse Restaurant, and the Bookstore in the entrance lobby will remain open.

The student evenings, presented as a pilot project by the Junior Council of the Museum, will conclude with a fourth evening on December 6.
