FEBRUARY OPENINGS (continued)

Feb. 24 - JOSEF KOUDELKA. About 50 photographs taken over the past 10 years by Josef Koudelka, a 36-year-old Czech photographer. Included are prints from his extended series on European gypsies. Directed by John Szarkowski, Director, Department of Photography. Steichen Galleries, 3rd floor.

FUTURE EXHIBITIONS (Incomplete listing; dates tentative)

Mar. 3 - 4/13 POINTS OF VIEW. A selection of approximately 45 prints from the Collection by artists such as Klinger, Munch, Ensor, Sloan and Hockney. Directed by Howardena Pindell, Assistant Curator, Prints and Illustrated Books. Sachs Galleries, 3rd floor.

Mar. 12 - ARCHITECTURE IN THE PENTHOUSE: STUDIES AND PROJECTS: Presented by the Art Lending Service and made possible by a grant from Pernod. Directed by Emilio Ambasz, Curator, Design. 6th floor. Open to the public 3-5:30.

Mar. 24 - PROJECTS: GER VAN ELK. Work by the young Dutch artist continues this series of exhibitions reporting on recent developments in art. Supported by the Museum's International Council. Directed by Kynaston McShine, Curator of Painting and Sculpture. 1st floor.

Apr. 30 - ANTHONY CARO. A large retrospective of works by the British artist who is one of the finest abstract sculptors to have emerged anywhere in the world since the formation of David Smith's mature style in the late 1940s. Supported by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the British Council, in cooperation with the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Directed by William Rubin, Director, Painting and Sculpture. 1st floor.

May 15 - D. W. GRIFFITH CENTENNIAL. Exhibition selected from the Museum's collection of rare documents, scripts, stills, and posters related to Griffith's career, concurrent with Part II of the Griffith film retrospective. Selected by Eileen Bowser, Associate Curator, Department of Film. 1st floor.

July 6 - THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE ECOLE DES BEAUX ARTS. This exhibition and its accompanying publication will examine the body of ideas and buildings against which the modern movement rebelled. The material, primarily drawings, often enormous in size, and many never before seen by the public, has been culled from thousands of student projects stowed away in the attic of the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. Included is work by students who subsequently established their preeminence as professional architects -- Henri Labrouste, architect of the Bibliothèque Nationale, and Charles Garnier, architect of the Paris Opera, among others -- and projects revealing the sources of much pioneering work in the U. S. by such architects as H. H. Richardson and Louis Sullivan. The distinguished drawings executed for the Prix de Rome and other competitions, as well as certain standard assignments, will be supplemented by photographs of major executed work in France and the United States. Directed by Arthur Drexler, Director, Department of Architecture and Design. 1st floor.

CURRENT EXHIBITIONS

through PROJECTS: JOHN WALKER. This young British artist is exhibiting a recent series of large lithographs in conjunction with a wall drawing which has been executed specifically for the space. The exhibition is supported by the Museum's International Council. Directed by Howardena Pindell, Assistant Curator, Prints and Illustrated Books. 1st floor. (opened Dec. 19) through LEE FRIEDLANDER. During the past decade Lee Friedlander has been one of the most original and influential of contemporary photographers. The homely, uncompromising common nature of his favorite subject matter has been transmuted by his sophisticated and elegant formal sense into a new photographic classicism. These fifty photographs have been selected for a European tour following the New York showing. Directed by John Szarkowski, Director, Department of Photography. Steichen Galleries, 3rd floor. (opened Dec. 9) through LUDWIG MIES VAN DER ROHE -- THE FIVE PROJECTS. An exhibition of seven drawings from the Collection of the Museum's Mies van der Rohe Archive on occasion of the recent acquisition of a major drawing for the Glass Skyscraper project of 1922. The five projects, which established Mies van der Rohe as one of the great innovators of modern architecture, include the Friedrichstrasse Office Building of 1921, the Concrete Office Building and the Brick Country House of 1922, and the Concrete Country House of 1923. Selected by Ludwig Glaeser, Curator, Mies van der Rohe Archive. 1st floor. (opened Nov. 9) through POSTERS IN THE PENTHOUSE. An exhibition/sale offering examples of recent developments in this graphic medium as well as posters of historic interest. Presented by the Art Lending Service and made possible by a grant from Blue Nun Wine. Guest Director, John Garrigan. Open to the public 3:00 - 5:30. Penthouse, 6th floor. (opened Dec. 6) through EDWARD WESTON. The first major retrospective of work by Edward Weston since his death in 1958. The exhibition, which consists of about 275 photographs dating from around 1918 to 1947, explores the evolution of the vision of this 20th-century master of photography and studies his contribution to the visual art of this century over five decades. Supported by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and SCM Corporation. The exhibition will travel throughout the U. S. after its New York showing. Willard Van Dyke, Guest Director. 1st floor. (opened Jan. 29)

The Museum of Modern Art gratefully acknowledges the support of its exhibition program by the New York State Council on the Arts.

THE MUSEUM COLLECTIONS

Painting and Sculpture. The exhibition of the painting and sculpture collection begins on the second floor with Cézanne and continues through the great historical movements of the 20th century—Cubism, Expressionism, Futurism, and the School of Paris. On the third floor the galleries are devoted to Dada and Surrealism, post-war European work, Abstract Expressionism, and related art from the early fifties. Four galleries are set aside for sculpture from 1880 to 1960. Ground floor galleries exclusively for work executed since the mid-1950s bring the exhibition of the Collection up to date, and include recent acquisitions. This presentation was made possible in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. Directed by William Rubin, Director, Painting and Sculpture.
