MUSIC VIDEO PROGRAM AT MoMA EXTENDED UNTIL OCTOBER 14 WITH ADDED THEATER SCREENINGS

MUSIC VIDEO: THE INDUSTRY AND ITS FRINGES has been extended for two weeks until October 14 in response to popular demand. This 170 minute selection of 35 promotional videotapes for the music industry will run in both the Museum's ground floor Video Gallery and The Roy and Niuta Titus Theater 2 from September 30 to October 14.

The exhibition, which runs chronologically beginning with two Beatles tapes from 1967, consists of both popular and experimental works that were influenced by independent video artists of the sixties.

MUSIC VIDEO: THE INDUSTRY AND ITS FRINGES has been organized by Barbara London, assistant curator of video in the Department of Film, with the assistance of Keith Johnson, assistant in the video program. The exhibition is part of the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Department of Film.

The complete schedule for the program is as follows:
