OLIN DOWNES TO DISCUSS MUSIC IN LECTURE SERIES
 ON FUTURE OF ARTS IN AMERICA AT MUSEUM OF MODERN ART

Olin Downes, noted writer on music and music editor and critic of The New York Times, will give a lecture on Music tonight (Wednesday, March 26) at 8 P.M. at the Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53 Street. This lecture is the third in a series entitled The Future of the Arts in American Life and Culture arranged by the Museum in association with the Progressive Education Association, to discuss the place of the arts, theatre, music and literature in the world today. At the close of each lecture specific problems involved will be discussed by a panel of educators under the chairmanship of Dr. Harold Rugg, Professor of Education at Teachers College, Columbia University.

The last lecture of the series will be next Wednesday, April 2, and will be addressed by John Peale Bishop on the subject, Literature, the last of the four arts under discussion.

Tickets are fifty cents and will admit holders to the exhibition now at the Museum, Indian Art of the United States, from 6 to 8 P.M. on date of lecture.
